

Alicia Bell | @aliciacbell

#NewsVoices | Free Press | newsvoices.org

A diverse group of people, including men and women of various ethnicities, are shown in profile, sitting and listening attentively. The background is bright and slightly blurred, suggesting an outdoor or well-lit indoor setting. A dark blue rounded rectangle is overlaid on the bottom half of the image, containing white text.

We build power with communities to better ensure a future of journalism that works for us all.

Word Up, Rocky Mount, NC

- A collaborative of community organizers and community members working to share community news and information across Eastern NC

Building Black Community

- A collaborative of Black Charlotte residents working to strengthen relationships between Black journalists & Black community members

Charlotte Journalism Collaborative

- A collaborative of newsrooms and community partners, where my role is to strengthen collaboration with non-newsroom communities across Charlotte

SUNDAY

COMPASS MA

JANUARY 8, 1950

I Was a Part Of The Bronx Slave Market

By MARVEL COOKE

I was a slave.

There is a powerful history and precedent for journalists collaborating with their communities.

Twitter: @aliciacbell

Charlotte Community-led Resource Map

CLT Community Members

These are various resources that are available to meet the need of the community and we all need to know what they are. This list is to provide information as well as to identify the gaps that exist.

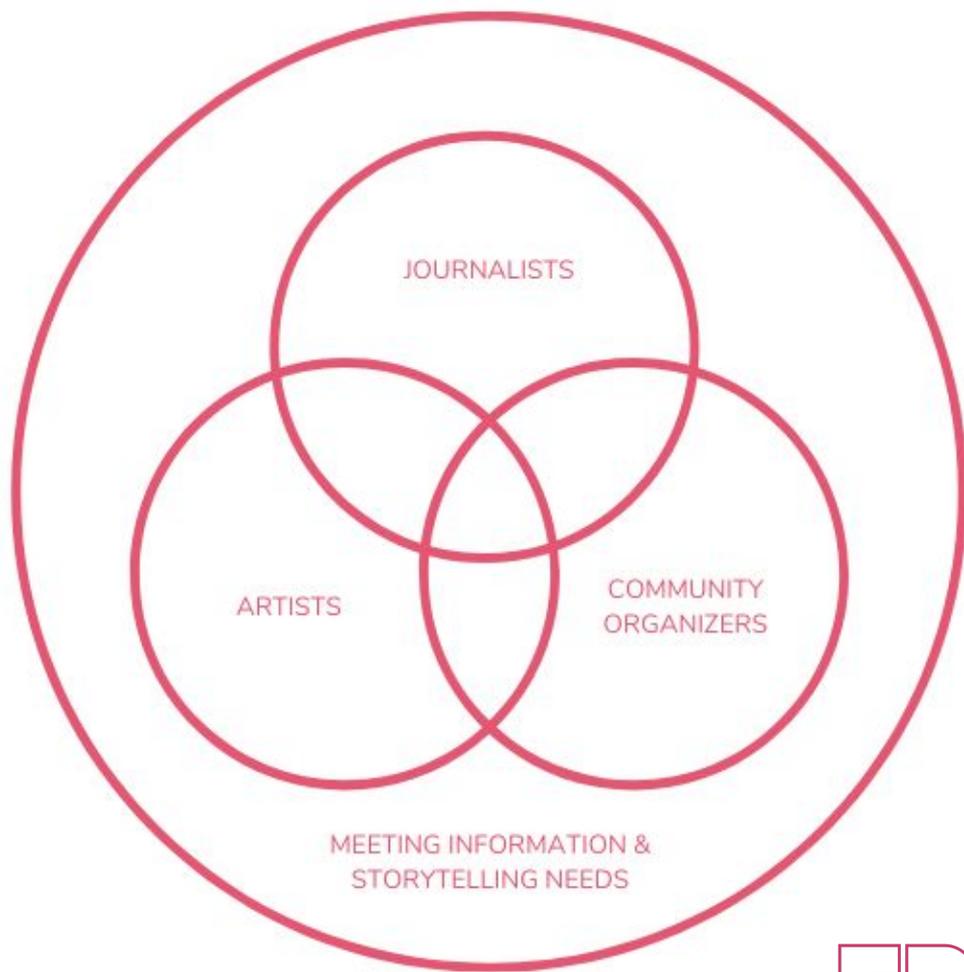

-  Educational 1
-  Food Pantries 10
-  Mental Wellness/Health 5
-  Alternative Sources/Resources 7
-  Child Care 1

Communities create ways to meet information needs without newsrooms all the time.

Twitter: @aliciacbell

Other people tell stories and provide information. Our impact is greater together.

Twitter: @aliciacbell

You can't create a future of journalism that works for all people without talking to and working with all kinds of people.

Twitter: @aliciacbell

Powerful communities sustain powerful infrastructure.

Twitter: @aliciacbell

